GIANT ZEPPELIN TURNS NOSE FOR STATION IN U.S.

Azores Passed by ZR-3, German Airship, Enroute To Lakehurst
ON NORTHERN ROUTE
Follows Rhine Before Passing Over France Out to Atlantic

(By the Associated Press)
HORFA, Azores Islands, Oct. 13.—The giant dirigible ZR-3 passed Fayal at 2:35 o'clock this afternoon (local time) on her way to Lakehurst, New Jersey. She was flying in a westerly direction traveling at a good rate of speed. Apparently all was well on board the airship which was clearly outlined against the sky. The weather was fine with a northwesterly breeze blowing.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The giant dirigible ZR-3 has passed Pice and Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst, New Jersey, according to a wireless message received here from the Azores via England.

Friedrichshafen, Oct. 13.—Three-year-old Betty Lou Kennedy of Aurora, Illinois, en route to Lakehurst, New Jersey, with her mother, will have the surprise of her life when her father, Maj. F. M. Kennedy steps from the ZR-3 and presents her with a doll nearly as large as Betty Lou herself.

The doll has yellow curls and rosy cheeks matching those of Betty Lou, says "mamma" as plain as anybody and not only that but she walks. The doll is a stowaway and is looked upon by the Americans officers aboard the dirigible as their mascot.

When Dr. Eckeren, Zeppelin director, inspected the ZR-3 for the last time cutting down every ounce of weight where he could, he spied Maj. Kennedy's fat blanket roll and it was not until he saw the doll that he winked and allowed Betty Lou's gift to stay aboard for the trans-Atlantic flight.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—The Zeppelin ZR-3 this morning was well out over the Atlantic. Having completed 100 miles of her journey from Friedrichshafen, Germany to Lakehurst, N. J., according to the latest advice.

The next definite word as to her progress is expected to be by wireless from vessels sighting her, or from Azores islands over which she is expected to pass on her southern trans-Atlantic route. This route was chosen because of the adverse weather conditions reported over the shorter northern passage.

STORY HARD HITTER REPORT OF RING FAN

"George Story is one of the hardest young fighters in the ring in this state," was the version of Mayor Somer Jones in commenting on the fight tonight between Story and Dutch Stone of Ada.

Others, who have witnessed Stone's opponent in the ring, are of the opinion that he will have a hard time putting the amateur from Oklahoma City away in the required ten rounds.

A. R. Dixon, promoter of the fight, was optimistic today over the prospects for the fight tonight at the Convention Hall and stated his belief that it would be one of the best battles seen here in some time.

Dixon announced that he would make no variation in the number of preliminaries for the fight tonight despite the fact that it was being staged at half price admission.

KIWANIAN PLAN TO PRODUCE PLAY

Civic Organization to Stage Benefit Play Here in November

The Kiwanians, infant civic organization, will turn to the stage for their next activity.

The club has signed a contract for the production of the John B. Rogers play, "Kathleen" here late in November or early December.

The contract was signed with Miss Ruth Hardin, representative of the producing company, who explained the high lights of the play to the Kiwanians at their regular noonday lunch Monday at the Episcopal Parish house.

Winston Churchill Looms as Premier As British Labor Government Weakens

(By Jackson V. Jacobs, Foreign Affairs Correspondent of Central Press)
LONDON, Oct. 13.—With the days of the Labor government numbered, there naturally is much talk concerning a successor to Ramsay MacDonald as premier. In the political clubs it is agreed that Winston Spencer Churchill stands a strong chance of realizing his life long ambition to be the tenant at 10 Downing Street, official home of Britain's prime ministers.

Churchill is an exception to virtually all political rules. There is a tradition in this country that there is no future for any politician who changes his party allegiance twice over. It was a Conservative that he entered Parliament about a quarter of a century ago, but his reputation was made after he switched over to the Liberals.

It was as a Liberal that he entered upon his experience in the Cabinet which lasted without break from 1906 until the fall of Lloyd George's coalition government two years ago. Now, after a brief stay in the wilderness, enlivened by his near win of the London bye-election as an independent candidate last spring, he finally has severed himself from the Liberals and is reborn as a Conservative.

He has been registered officially and has been adopted as Conservative candidate for the Epping division in West Essex at the next general election.

The fact that he was chosen for what is regarded as one of the safest Conservative seats in England emphasizes the party's satisfaction at his return.

Churchill's rise to the front rank in British politics was the result of brains, originality and hard work. Politics is his profession. His reappearance in the political field this time, in the Conservative camp, has created enormous interest throughout the nation.

Churchill has a genius for getting into the political limelight and making himself a storm center of heated controversy. He makes enemies all of the time and in all directions, and the more he makes the better pleased this stormy petrel of British politics appears to be. Ever since the Lloyd George administration went down to defeat Churchill has upheld the viewpoint that socialism and constitutionalism are the only real opposing forces in present day politics. He fought hard to line up the Liberals and Conservatives in combination against the Laborites, and restore the two party

Officials Searching For Assailant of Man In Illegitimate Case

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 14.—Officials were searching today in the vicinity of Newalla for Fay Phillips, 22 employed by a produce company at Harrah whose blood stained automobile with the lights burning and containing a bloody club was found near Newalla early today.

According to members of Phillips family, he was convicted in Oklahoma county court two weeks ago in a case involving an illegitimate child.

The road in the vicinity of Phillips' car showed a number of footprints and revealed indications of a struggle.

BANK STATEMENTS SHOW PROSPERITY

Rapid Turn for Better Seen In Condensed Bank Report
The condensed bank statements in today's issue of the News indicate a rapid return for the better in the finances of the citizens of Pontotoc county, due largely to the rapidly moving cotton crop.

Combined deposits are $2,496,687.62. This is an increase over the July statement of $526,311.58. The increase is all the more remarkable because during the two months following the last statement there was little to bring money into the county while much was going out all the time.

The banks report fine collections and say a large part of their customers will pay out this fall for the first time in several years. Many will have money left after paying their debts and will be in shape to face next year without being loaded down with a burden of debt.

BOOZE PLAYS PART IN LAW ENFORCEMENT HERE

The law enforcement departments of Pontotoc county and the city of Ada enjoyed a busy period during the week-end, according to reports from both offices this morning.

Fifteen victims were caught in the city dragnet during the week-end, the majority of whom faced charges of being drunk in court today. Six pleas of guilty have been accepted by the police today and the police court this afternoon expected to place the penalty on the remaining number.

Two cases of fighting were included in the list of city arrests. A negro was held for trial this afternoon on a charge of beating his wife and two white farmers are charged with fighting in an alley here Saturday.

REVIEW REFUSED IN STRIKE CASE

Supreme Court Upholds Conviction of Clements On Conviction

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The supreme court today refused to review the conviction of R. H. Clements and other former employees of the A. T. & S. F. railroad on a charge of conspiring to obstruct the mails and interfere with interstate commerce during the shopmen's strike in 1922.

It was at the height of the shop crafts strike, in August 1922, that employees on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad refused to move trains out of Needles, Cal., and at places on the desert in Arizona. Considerable inconvenience resulted to the passengers on the stalled trains, and the mails were delayed.

The motive for the walkout became at once a subject of controversy. The government insisted that the action of the employees had been inspired to tie up the system and force an acceptance of the demands of the striking shopmen. The workmen asserted that the walk-out followed the refusal of the company to remedy intolerable working conditions, and had no relation whatever to the shopmen's strike.

When a jury in the federal court for southern California heard the evidence presented by both sides, it returned a verdict holding R. H. Clements, John Stuchin, C. I. Fox, A. Arkebaue, E. H. Reynolds, L. E. Woodcock, E. Fraser, and C. E. Holly, indicted as leaders of the strike guilty of a wilful and criminal conspiracy to obstruct the mails and to interfere with interstate commerce.

The convicted men, in urging the Supreme Court to review the case, contended that the evidence was ample to sustain their plea that the strike had been resorted to only after the company had refused to remove the armed guards and to keep the locomotives in proper running order. It was high time, they insisted, that the question whether railroad men have the same right to strike as workmen in other lines of industry, should be determined by the court of last resort. That court should announce, they asserted, whether a strike of employees upon a railroad carrying the mails and engaged in interstate commerce, which resulted in the stoppage of trains, of itself constituted an unlawful obstruction of the mails and an illegal interference with interstate commerce, when the strike was directed against working conditions which were unbearable.

MUTINY SHIP IS TOWED TO HARBOR BY BOOZE RUNNER

Slashed and Beaten Crew Charged With Mutiny By Captain
BOOZE ON BOARD
Ship Held to Await Action by Federal Authorities

(By the Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Rolling leisurely on the ocean swell in the lee of Sandy Hook with her crew of 32 in irons, her cargo of 43,000 cases of liquor under governmental seal, the Norwegian steamship Sagatind this morning awaited disposition at the hands of the federal government.

There was nothing to suggest wild scenes that had been enacted on deck before the coast guard cutter Seneca sighted her floating aimlessly about some 40 miles from New York without a helmsman. When the Seneca came upon the Sagatind just before dawn yesterday the lookout of the cutter hailed the ship but received no response. Three shots were fired across her bow. When there was still no sign of life aboard Capt. R. L. Blake of the Seneca ordered his men to board her, acting under the law permitting search of a vessel known to be in communication with the shore.

Customs men clambered over the side and looked about the deck cautiously expecting to be fired upon. They saw no one on deck but a search disclosed two sailors asleep in the wheel house. Below deck they found the rest of the crew. Some were asleep some were in their bunks nursing broken bones and some were staggering about in a stupor. Nearly all had black eyes. The captain was found locked in his cabin with 12 rifles and six revolvers beside his bunk. He explained that his ship, a 964 ton oil burning vessel of Norwegian registry, had left Antwerp with a dorect crew and 100,000 cases of assorted liquors. Only 47,000 cases remained. In the ship's safe customs officers found $26,000 in American money.

Made Use of Liquor.
The crew had made free with the liquor, he said, and before they were out a day the fighting began. The brawls continued all the way over and reached a climax when the vessel anchored in rum row.

The night the drinking crew indulged in a drinking orgy and three men received broken jaws, one a broken leg, two broken arms and a score received black eyes, the captain told the customs men. He retired to his cabin to wait for the storm to subside.

While the captain was telling his story to Capt. Blake other customs men had driven the crew below deck and made fast the hatches. The vessel was then towed inside Sandy Hook where a guard was placed over her to await the decision of officials as to her disposition.

Robbers of Bank Had Strong Backs To Carry off Safe

KENDRICK, Oct. 13.—With no other clue than that the perpetrators must be possessed of sturdy backs and a powerful motor truck, Lincoln county authorities today continued to search for the men who entered the Kendrick State bank Saturday night or early Sunday morning and carted off the two-ton safe containing all of the institution's cash and securities.

The robbery was not discovered until 9 o'clock Sunday morning when a broken window through which the robbers entered was noticed. The safe evidently was carried out through a door which was opened by an inside lock. A. N. Argasright, the cashier, said no check up had been made of the amount of money obtained by the bandits.

WOMAN SPEAKER HERE IN DEMOCRATIC ISSUE

Mrs. George Seevy of Chicago will address the voters of Pontotoc county at the convention hall Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the national issues of the campaign.

Mrs. Seevy is the only woman speaker the Democratic national committee has sent to Oklahoma. She is said to be a most interesting and convincing speaker and her addresses in favor of Davis and Bryan in other places are pronounced most excellent.

WOMAN SLAYER IS HELD FOR TRIAL

Understood Mrs. Green Will Waive Preliminary Hearing in Case

(By the Associated Press)
LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 13.—Mrs. Winona Green, confessed slayer, it is alleged, of her husband's father and mother, J. R. Green who was waylaid and killed as he was passing through a railroad cut here last August and Mrs. Lena Green who was shot to death three weeks ago near Fisher, Okla., will be called for preliminary hearing in municipal court Wednesday. It is expected by officials that she will waive hearing and await trial by the Pulaski county grand jury. W. H. Donham, prosecuting attorney, announced trial in the Pulaski county court would follow as quickly as conditions warranted.

Mrs. Green, it was stated, spends much of her time in jail reading newspapers and magazines. When informed that the body of her mother-in-law had been found where she is said to admitted she shot her to death, Mrs. Green expressed satisfaction. The body was located yesterday by the sheriff of Tulsa county following a long distance telephone conversation with the woman in which the Tulsa official was directed where to search for the body.

A. R. Green, her husband, who was arrested with her in Pueblo, Col., and brought to Little Rock, has been released on a $2,000 bond as a result of the woman's alleged statement to police, when she declared him innocent of any participation in the slaying or any knowledge as to the identity of the slayer.

Pontotoc County Singing Convention To Meet in City

The Pontotoc County Singing convention will hold its regular semi-annual meeting at the Convention Hall Saturday night and Sunday of this week. A Sunday dinner will be served in the basement of the hall. The convention accepted an invitation at its last session at Byng to meet in Ada this time and will be here in full force.

This is one of the oldest organizations of any kind in the country, having been formed long before statehood and meeting regularly ever since. Pontotoc county has some excellent singers and the conventions are always full of interest.

LITTLE PROGRESS IN GARRETT CASE

Jury Panel Dismissed by Hal Johnson in Election Dispute

(By the Associated Press)
ARDMORE, Oct. 13.—Little progress in the selection of a jury to decide whether Ewing C. London's name shall go on the ballot as the Democratic candidate for sheriff of Carter county was made at the opening session of the hearing here today before Judge Hal Johnson of Shawnee. Only six jurors had been questioned when a recess was taken for the noon hour.

The action was brought by Buck Garrett, former sheriff, who alleged that London, who is the present sheriff, had been declared nominated for re-election as the result of a conspiracy.

Three judges before Judge Johnson have been disqualified in the case. At the outset of the hearing 20 members of the jury panel were excused without questioning when they declared prejudice in the case and the opinion was expressed that considerable time will be consumed in obtaining a jury because of the sharp division of feeling in the county over the Ku Klux Klan and anti-klan issue.

Nearly 500 witnesses are expected to be called after the jury is finally obtained.

PHILLIPS VICTORY NOT EARNED, CLAIM

All Counters Made as Result Of Fumbles and Intercepted Passes

Although defeated by a score of 31 to 6, the defeat of East Central's Tigers by Phillips university at Enid Saturday is not as decisive as the score would indicate, parties who accompanied the team on the trip state today.

Every touchdown of the game was unearned, according to sport accounts and information of those attending the game. Every touchdown came as results of fumbles and intercepted forward passes.

Three touchdowns against the local team were scored as the result of fumbles while two were made from intercepted forward passes. East Central's touchdown was the result of a punt touched by an Enid man and recovered over the goal line by an Ada player.

The East Central team marched four times within the shadow of the goal line only to lose the ball on fumbles. A check of the yardage gains of both teams showed that each team made eight downs each during the game and East Central excelled in the number of passes completed.

REPAIRATION COMMISSION PLAN NOW FIRMLY ESTABLISHED

(By the Associated Press)
PARIS, Oct. 13.—The reparations commission formerly announced today that the Dawes plan organization has been fully established and that the German government had complied with all of the requirements to date under the agreement made at the recent international conference in London.

The commission approved the plan of American, British and German participation in the two hundred million dollar loan to Germany and suggested that the agent general for reparations payments out to be ex-officio one of the trustees of the reparations bond holders.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BUT NOW IS CHRIST RISEN FROM THE DEAD and become the first fruit of them that slept.—1 Corinthians 15:20

During the past few years a number of state editorial associations have adopted codes of ethics for the newspaper profession of their respective jurisdictions. The National Editorial association now has a committee out to draw up a similar code for its members. This is a step in the right direction. In recent years the newspaper business has been put on a higher level than it formerly occupied and its members are recognizing their obligations to the public and to one another as never before. This is as it should be and it is to be hoped that the good work will go on. In the good old days it was considered a matter of course for every paper to vilify its competitors and all organizations and individuals not in harmony with the opinion of the editor. The result was that the public finally believed rival editors were telling the truth when they lambasted each other, hence neither was to be respected very highly. In the old days a paper represented a faction rather than the entire community hence its influence was not very far reaching. Reputable editors no longer waste their space and effort trying to put competitors out of business. They realize that they owe one another a certain amount of courtesy and that the public prefers other reading than tirades against other papers. Reputable editors now recognize that service is what the public wants and they strive to attain that end. The public will have a higher opinion of the press when it performs its real mission and does not feel under obligation to take a hand in factional rows.

Josephus Daniels reminds the country of the fact that since 1860 all third party movements have come about as a protest against Republican misrule after the party had held control of both houses of congress and the president for a few years. Back in 1872 the scandals of the Grant administration brought about the organization of the Liberal party which nominated Horace Greeley for the presidency. In 1892 the Pouliast party rose to large proportions, in 1912 Bull Moose party sprang up and now La Follette is leading another insurgent movement against the G. O. P. Republican leaders have always maintained that their party was the only one with brains enough to run the government, but somehow they don't stay in power long until a lot of scandals in high places are uncovered. The boys simply can't be good very long at a time or resist temptation when it comes their way.

Not long ago an enterprising reporter on one of the big New York dailies wrote a sensational story about a palatial rum ship anchored out in the ocean not far from New York where wealthy patrons could quench their thirst with any brand they might fancy and where nightly revels were the regular program. The paper was so deeply impressed that it copyrighted the story before publishing it. A rigid investigation followed the row the yarn kicked up and finally the paper published an acknowledgment that the story was all humbug and that the industrious reporter had lost his job. In these matter of fact days papers try to stick to the truth and will not stand for monkey business of this kind.

The airplane is all right for light air traffic, but the big dirigible will be the air express of the future. Fast express and mail will be sent by dirigible and those in a hurry to reach a distant point in the shortest possible time will just step into a giant airship and sail away. Of course when that time arrives the big bugs of the country will show the world that they are of the upper crust by owning their aircraft and cruising about in the ether in touch with terra firma by radio, just as they must now own their private yachts in order to prove they are some pumpkins. When a man owns his automobile, his yacht and Zeppelin what further proof could one ask that he is numbered among the 400?

Expressions of the press prove that the entire nation is pleased with the result of the world series. Washington has fought for the honor for so many years that it had the sympathy of ball fans from the beginning. Then, too, all fandom loved Walter Johnson and was anxious to see him realize his lifetime ambition. That he did so in the crisis of the last game adds all the more to his laurels and merits the applause of his admirers. The fact that the final victory was won in one of the hardest fought and most brilliant games ever staged on the American diamond makes the triumph all the more dramatic.

Chairman Butler reports that to date only $1,095,000 has been contributed to the Republican national campaign fund. Times have changed since Mark Hanna returned a check for $25,000 to a wealthy citizen of Chicago with the terse notation, "your assessment is $250,000," and made him come across.

The Washington American Leaguers received $5,959.64 each as their share of the World series receipts. A little more than $1,000,000 was taken in at the seven games.

ARDMORE PLANS FOR MEETING OF MASONS

ARDMORE.—(Special)—One of the largest Masonic gatherings ever held in the state is to be the reunions of members of the Masonic bodies of Southern Oklahoma to be held in Ardmore November 26, according to Charles Poulter, secretary of Oklahoma Grotto.

The meeting will continue throughout the day and part of the night. At this time it is planned to confer a third degree at the Princess theater when an out-of-town Masonic team will have charge of the work. The Grand Master of Oklahoma will be present and will deliver the principal address.

A Grotto ceremonial will be staged the same day. Other features included in the plans are a banquet in the evening at 6 o'clock for all Masons and their wives and a dance and vaudeville acts at the Convention Hall between the hours of 8:30 and 12 o'clock.

J. T. Coleman has been appointed as chairman of the committee in charge of all arrangements. This committee will meet Tuesday evening to complete arrangements. All Masonic bodies of this city will take part.

Earth Movements of Decades Studied by Geodetic Survey

(By the Associated Press)

SANTA ANNA, Cal., Oct. 13.—A United States geodetic survey party is engaged in a survey to determine what earth movements have transpired in the past two decades along the 150-mile route extending from here, on the Mohave desert.

The precise levels, or sea elevations, Santa Anna to Barstow, north of here, are being established at various points along the route, connecting with the marks established by the last survey, in 1906. Comparisons will determine whether changes have taken place as a result of earthquakes or other disturbances.

WASHITA RIVER IS BEING HARNESSSED AT CHICKASHA

CHICKASHA.—The work of re-

harnessing the Washita river so that it will again serve the Chickasha Gas & Electric company in the production of electricity at Chickasha will be completed about December 15, according to F. D. Shaffer, manager of the company. A huge flood gate is being installed which the company hopes will take care of any flood emergency. The Chickasha institution will be the largest hydro-electric power plant in Oklahoma and will furnish electricity for several cities and towns in Grady and Caddo counties. The plant was left high and dry about a year ago when floods of the Washita River carried out the company's dam and changed the course of the stream at Chickasha. Since that time the company has been securing a supplemental supply of electricity from the high lines of the Oklahoma Gas & Electric company at El Reno.

COLLEGE SECURES SERVICE OF PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE

Miss Myrtle Grisham, who was educated at Washington University, St. Louis and who is a registered nurse has been added to the faculty of East Central.

Miss Grisham comes here through the co-operation of the Federal Board of Vocational Education and the Teachers College. It is planned that she devote half her time to teaching classes at the College and the remainder of her time to the promotion of child care and mothercraft courses for the women of Ada.

Miss Grisham is thoroughly qualified for this type of work. Her training in college and in special courses required in order to qualify her as a public health nurse and a registered nurse is such as to assure the people of this community an exceptionally capable instructor in public health courses.

Miss Grisham will organize classes for those women who are interested at such times and places as may meet their needs. Instruction will be absolutely free, there will be no tuition and no fees of any sort.

It is the hope of the Department of Vocational Education and of the Teachers College that a campaign may be inaugurated in Ada which will have for its result better health for the community and better care of the children of the community. All mothers in Ada are interested in the work that Miss Grisham is here to do. Those who desire to confer with her should call her at the College, Phone 36.

PRINCE OF WALES GREETED ON VISIT TO CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The Prince of Wales was greeted by a throng when he reached Chicago today and descended from his train at Lake Forest to be the guest of Louis F. Swift at his Lake Forest estate. He arrived in the suburb shortly after 8 o'clock.

The Prince of Wales and his party were whisked away by motor cars to the Swift home for breakfast. The royal visitor was expected to remain at the home until 10 o'clock when he would go to Chicago for a round of visits to points of interest, the first to be the stock yards.

"SHADOW OF THE EAST" WORTHY SUCCESSOR TO HULL'S "THE SHEIK"

E. M. Hull's "The Shadow of the East," as presented by William Fox at the American Theatre, today is a worthy successor to that author's other famous novel and motion picture, "The Sheik." With Frank Mayor, Mildred Harris and Norman Kerry in the leading roles, this story of the enchanting East is told with a graphic forcefulness which brings home the true power of the Orient. Unlike "The Sheik" however, "The Shadow of the East" deals with the effect of that mysterious country upon a white man. In the case of "The Sheik," the central character was a Bedouin, an Arabian chieftain. The picture will close an engagement at the local theatre Tuesday night.

CHEKIANG FORCES CONTINUE FIGHTING DESPITE ARMISTICE

(By the Associated Press)
SHANGHAI, Oct. 13.—Chekiang forces holding the defense line west of Shanghai, unaware that they were fighting for a lost cause, uninformed that an armistice had been signed last night in which their leader virtually admitted defeat, continued firing into the enemies lines this afternoon.

A train from Nansiang 12 miles from here brought in 300 Chekiang soldiers who when apprised of the turn of events, joined other Chekiang at the railroad station north of here where an impromptu auction of clothing and equipment was held. A number of military motor cars were knocked down to bidders for $10 upwards.

HICKS WILL SPEAK IN ADA TUESDAY NIGHT

I extend an invitation to the public to hear me Tuesday night in Ada. I shall discuss the issues of this political campaign fairly, honestly and upon the facts, free from all abuse or slurs, even I may radically differ from many of my hearers. DESCENDENT OF FRANKLIN IS FOUND IN NEVADA

(By the Associated Press)

SATTLE, Nev., Oct. 13.—Back in the middle ages "Franklin" meant freeholder and John Henry Franklin, known to residents of this section as "Long John" and reputed grand nephew of Benjamin Franklin is running true to form. He is a freeholder of a tentative dam site near here and in the summer months lives in a log cabin there, residing in Sattle, during the winter.

"Long John" is 69 years old, tall and with hair and beard tinged with grey. He is a bachelor and takes great pride in baking pies and cakes. He describes himself as the "black sheep" of an illustrious family and has little faith in the writings of Benjamin Franklin in regard to liquor.

Whereas Benjamin Franklin wrote "Drink water; put the money in your pocket and leave the dry bellyache in the punch bowl," it is the claim of "Long John" that he "can hold his liquor with the best of them."

Some years ago "Long John" quit tobacco and now as a substitute for chewing and smoking he munches peppermint candy.

From the time he was 18 years old until he came to Nevada 12 years ago Franklin wandered about the world, and he recounts among his experiences a trip to Siberia aboard a whaling vessel and imprisonment there by Russians for many months.

Those Pearly Smiles

Do what they do—millions of them
Fight the dingy film on teeth

There is a way to whiter teeth, to greater beauty, sweeter smiles. You know that if you look about. Millions are using a new way of teeth cleaning. They combat the film, which other millions leave. Go now to your dealer and ask for a free test of this new-day method.

Most teeth are unclean

Most teeth are coated more or less by film. You feel it now—that viscous coat. Leave it, and it soon discolors, forming dingy coats. That is how teeth lose luster.

No ordinary tooth paste effectively combats it. So well-brushed teeth may suffer.

Film causes most tooth troubles. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

A serious matter

Film is a serious matter. So dental science has long sought for ways to fight it. Two have been found. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Many careful tests have proved these methods effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

The New-Day Dentifrice

A tooth paste based on modern research. Now advised by leading dentists the world over.

Dainty people of some 50 nations now employ that method, largely by dental advice.

This test will show

This test will bring you other new effects, equally important. Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. It multiplies the starch digestant in saliva.

So those great factors, there to combat mouth acids and starch deposits, are given multiplied effect. That means great new protection.

Present the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

This test will be a revelation. You will always want in your home these benefits and delights. Cut out coupon now.

ANY WOMAN, any man, can now have a well-developed face and form. The whole, simple secret of a well-developed form is in the number of blood-cells in your body. You can now forget all the theoretical talk about diet, exercise, fad treatments, food-fats and fat-foods. Nothing is of any use, after all, except blood-cells!

Thin, run-down men and women, with bony necks, sunken cheeks, bony shoulders—all these are suffering from one thing—too few blood-cells. Science has proved that S.S.S. helps to make the rich red blood-cells, which you need. Your blood is starving for these new blood-cells! Give your blood the blood-cells it needs—take S.S.S., the great scientific blood-cell maker. S.S.S. has done marvels, too, in making beautiful complexions, clearing the skin, making lips rosy red, the cheeks full and plump—because it rids the blood of impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetter, rash and rheumatism, too. As the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. This is why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Start taking S.S.S. today and your great problem, that of your personal appearance, can be solved.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

The costume picture seems to be losing none of its popularity judging from such successes as "Scaarmouche," "Beau Brummel," "Yoland," "Dorothy Vernon," "Monsieur Beaucaire," "The Sea Hawk," and others, but the very latest pictures have discarded the hoops, satin breeches and ruffles of the Colonial and Louis the Grand periods and are featuring the quaint-looking costumes of, say twenty years ago. Isn't it queer how much more out-of-date they look, too, than the clothes of several centuries ago?

Corinne Griffith and Colleen Moore are two of the popular stars who have adopted the clothes of yesterday in "Wilderness" and "So Big" respectively. Corinne "sacrifices all to art," so to speak, in "Wilderness" for she not only dons clothes that would make anyone but her lovely self hideous but permits herself to be soaked to the skin in a screen rain storm.

The blonde star was born in Texas.

arkana, Texas, and educated in the Sacred Heart Convent, New Orleans. For a year she was a professional follower of Terpsichore, then tried screen work with Western Vitagraph company. She was immediately successful as was to be expected with her beauty and charm. She was first featured in "The Yellow Girl," "The Last Man," and "Through the Wall," then played ingenue leads and later with the handsome and popular Earle Williams. Most of her work until lately has been under the Vitagraph banner, but she made a Goldwyn production, "Six Days," and "The Common Law" for Selznick. "Lilies of the Field" in which she took the part of a young mother, was made under her own name. "Corinne Griffith Productions" and she is now in the First National fold.

"Single Wives," in which she played opposite Milton Sills, was her last release. In private life she is Mrs. Oliver Morosco.

Baby Dorothy Brock, three-year-old screen actress, claims to have had more famous screen mothers than any other kiddie in the movies. Corinne Griffith was her mother in "Lilies of the Field." Colleen Moore in "So Big" and Doris Kenyon in "If I Marry Again." The two last named pictures have not yet been released.

Hector Sarno, who has played character parts for the screen for fifteen years, has received his first screen kiss, Viola Dana, as an impish dancing girl in First National's "As Man Desires" gives the osculatory salute. We were not told how Hector received it.

Charles next starring vehicle will be "The Desert Fiddler," from Wm. Hamby's novel. Barbara Bedford and Betty Blythe will be the feminine leads.

Lloyd Hughes says the way to win a girl is this: First pick out your girl, then take her into an unexplored region of South America. Wait until a hungry allosaurus, as big as seven elephants, tries to gobble her up, then scare him away with a blazing branch of a tree in his eye and when he turns to run the girl will nestle her head on your shoulder and ask you to set the day. Hughes does it all, too, in "The Lost World." Have you seen any Allosaurs in your Autumn rambles?

Mae Marsh has been making a picture titled "Arabella" in Germany. They wanted her to make two more pictures over there but she decided to come home and is now in Los Angeles preparing to star in two productions.

HISTORIC PLACES OFFERED FOR SALE

Real Estate Markets Offer Many Old Estates for Purchase

LONDON—The changed social and economic order, which since the war has been yearly more apparent, has brought another historic mansion upon the real estate market.

This is Combe Woodhouse, in Combe Wood, once the home of Katharine Parr, a lady who achieved distinction by becoming the sixth wife of Henry VIII and undying fame when the mutations of fate decreed that she should be the cemetery widow of a monarch among whose spouses mortality was heavy, even for the times of the Tudors.

The interior of Combe Woodhouse is charming, all the features being Tudor. There is a leather room, also a Tudor Hall, long gallery, panelling everywhere, and some old stained glass with Katharine Parr's arms on it.

Thus changes are taking place in England, the country which used to be so hostile to any interruption of the established order. Although it must not be taken as a forerunner of prohibition, it is worth noting that the Old Castle Inn of Smallberry Green, Iselworth, a favorite haunt of Dick Turpin, the highwayman, which has dispensed good cheer since 1597, will shortly become a private residence.

The notorious highwayman, who frequented Hounslow Heath, was not the only caller whose visits are recalled by the villagers who drop into the Old Castle Inn of an evening. Shakespeare and Ben Johnson often called there on their way to Windsor and during the Victorian era its walls re-echoed to the conversation of such well-known authors, artists and theatrical people as Dickens, Cruikshank, Sir Arthur Sullivan, Sir John Galsworthy, Sims Reeves, Marie Lloyd, and, at least once, Matthew Arnold.

HAKODATE, Japan.—A subterranean peninsula, as large as Korea, runs through the middle of the Sea of Japan, according to officers of the Japanese Navy's special service ship Yamato. This vessel has been making a survey of these waters, and recently put in here for supplies.

WAS UNABLE TO DO LIGHTEST HOUSEWORK

Mrs. Alexander Suffered From Nervous Indigestion Before She Took Tanlac.

"The only thing I regret about my Tanlac experience is that I did not take it long ago," is the unique manner in which Mrs. C. W. Alexander, of 1011 Front St., Norman, Okla., pays tribute to the Master Medicine.

"Stomach trouble, lack of appetite and nervousness weakened me to such an extent that much of the time I was unable to do my housework. What I did eat fermented, causing such gas and heart palpitation that I could hardly stand it. My back also pained me. I was nervous almost to distraction, and often at night I would be wide-awake until one of two o'clock unable to sleep.

"Tanalac has made a wonderful change in me. My appetite is now splendid. I eat anything without harm and have gained several pounds. My nerves are calm, too. I sleep peacefully and have strength and energy to do my housework with ease."

Tanalac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

German Motorists Talk Back To Cops on Traffic Duty

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN—German motorists are the greatest "jay-walkers" in Europe. Automobiles have been so few in the larger German cities, and for the most part the streets are so broad, that pedestrians have paid little attention to traffic. Accommodating drivers have limited their speed and movements to suit the public, which walked all over the streets.

But the times are changing. With the stabilized mark motor cars are appearing in large numbers, and the German cities have been forced to study methods practiced abroad in controlling traffic. Several police officers have recently returned from the United States and England, where they observed modern methods of control.

Already in Berlin the police have instituted reforms, but as the officers are inexperienced, the first effects have been a decided slowing down of pedestrians and motor traffic on crossings in the central section of the city, and much dissatisfaction.

The control is still in the arguing stage. Motor car drivers argue with the crossing policemen and the policemen talk back, while impatient pedestrians and lines of vehicles await signals to move.

Potsdammer Platz, where three important avenues and several minor streets center, is the worst place in Berlin and the chief point upon which control officers are working.

There are a number of "islands" in the center of the circle, where pedestrians used to congregate. These have now been fenced and closed to the public, which is forced to make its way around the sidewalks on the outside of the circle. Platforms have been erected temporarily upon which officers stand and direct the movements of street cars, motor cars and horse-drawn vehicles. One of the great difficulties in Berlin is the regulation of bicycle riders, who are very numerous. Bicyclists at first regarded themselves as being exempt from the regulations, and dodged about at will until wholesale arrests were made.

"Hard-boiled" traffic officers of the type seen in America seem to be lacking in German cities, and the public is much inclined to resent all interference with its movements. Germans of the old school attribute this revolutionary spirit to the political changes which have come about since the republic was instituted. But as the crossing officers become more experienced their courage seems to rise, and there are indications that they will soon be enforcing their authority without hesitation. For the moment Germany does not seem to have recovered from the idea that democratic government makes it possible for everybody to have his own way, and defy authority at every turn.

PLENTY OF ACTION IN NEW VALENTINO PARAMOUNT FILM

Movie fans who yearn for action in pictures will get plenty of it when "Monsieur Beauchamp," the Sidney Olcott production for Paramount starring Rudolph Valentino, comes to the McSwain theatre today.

The Booth Tarkington story has been unchanged except for the insertion of a number of scenes in the story. In the original book there were no French scenes all the action taking place in England with the incidents in France merely mentioned at different places in story. While there is plenty of dramatic suspense in the French scenes in the picture there is little actual physical combat except for the closing scenes of the episode showing the supper table of King Louis XV. It is here the action takes place that ends up with the Duke de Chartres, played by Valentino, defying the King who has ordered the Duke to marry the Princess Bourbon-Conti. The scenes showing Rudy resisting the efforts of the King's guards to arrest him are as thrilling as any yet put upon the screen.

But it is in the English episode that Valentino has most of his fighting to do. Posing as Beauchamp, a barber, the Duke soon gets into trouble by trying to win Lady Mary away from Lord Winteret. After several unsuccessful attempts to Beauchamp permanently removed from active competition for Lady Mary's hand, Winteret finally hires six swordsmen to do the work. Valentino's scrap with these six men is a classic.

The action in this scene takes place on the terrace of a nobleman's home near Bath. Incidentally, Director Olcott had the biggest set ever built at Paramount's Long Island studio for this scene, the entire floor space on the main stage being taken up by the exterior of the house, graveled paths, trees, grass and shrubbery.

Ten thousand people were guests at the wedding of a rabbi's daughter in Roumania.

STAR GAZERS ARE TOLD OF WONDERS

October and November Are Good Months to Look At Stars

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—October and November are two good months to look at the stars, for November is the month of meteors. During October the great nebula in Andromeda can be seen without the aid of a telescope, says a bulletin from the American Nature Association, which points out that Mars is the only one of the bright planets to be seen in October evenings. You must get up before sunrise to see Venus, which is glorious at that time. Jupiter and Saturn are too close to the sun to be seen in October.

With the visit of Mars this summer, when it was only 34,000,000 miles away, and nearer than it had been in a century, the Nature Association says a remarkable impetus has been given "star gazing." Reports of a new comet discovered by the Barn Observatory recall the visit of Halley's comet in May, 1910. This "visitor" is due again in 1981. In 1910 the comet was only 14,000,000 miles away.

In November every year several meteor swarms are due. The Leonids, so-called because they come from the general direction of the constellation Leo, appear about Nov. 15, but you will have to be up before sunrise to see them because Leo is then in the morning sky.

The Andromedes, which will seem to come from the direction of Andromeda, will appear in the evening hours, however, about Nov. 23 or 24. Then there are the Taurids, several distinct groups appearing at different times during the month from different points in Taurus. These also will appear in the evening hours, from the directions of Taurus, nearly due east. An occasional fire-ball, which is simply a meteor of exceptional size or brilliancy that may succeed in reaching the earth's surface, has been known to appear among the Taurids, so keep an eye on the eastern heavens November evenings. You may see something of special interest in the way of meteors.

The object that will probably first catch your eye November evenings will be the straggling W. in Cassiopeia, in the northern heavens, high above the pole. You will probably search in vain for Big Dipper, for it lies on the opposite side of the pole from Cassiopeia, and is so close to the horizon in November that it is concealed by trees or buildings to the northward. Possibly you will be able to make out the outlines of the Little Dipper, though, with the North Star, Polaris, at the end of its handle.

Next to Cassiopeia, the Great Square in Pegasus with the constellation of Andromeda joining it on the east, is one of the most noticeable of the autumn groups. It now lies directly on the meridian due south of the zenith overhead. To the southwest of the Great Square lies Aquarius, the Water-Bearer, which can be distinguished by the Y-shaped group of stars from which a stream of faint stars is flowing toward the south and southeast. Mars, still in Aquarius where it has been for many months, is moving rapidly eastward during November and receding from the earth.

In the east in November you will

Vagrant Mines Menace Ships
DOVER, England.—There are still several explosive mines, relics of the war, floating about in the Baltic Sea and in the English Channel, according to reports which are being filed almost weekly by captains of vessels which ply in these waters. A ship coming from Antwerp recently reported a mine off the Goodwin Lightship in the Channel, and two others were reported nearby by the captain of a vessel sailing from Russia.

Disabled Veterans Master Crafts Requiring Skill and Science

Although handicapped by the loss of limbs or by other injuries suffered in the war, thousands of former service men have been rehabilitated and completed courses in vocational training through the Veterans' Bureau. Special instruction and in many cases, the use of cleverly adjusted artificial limbs and other appliances have enabled hundreds of crippled men to surmount tremendous obstacles in their fight to overcome the ravages of war.

Thousands have mastered trades and crafts requiring considerable skill and science, overcoming the loss of limbs by the use of special apparatus and by expert training. Of the approximately 70,000 men still being taught, from 1,000 to 5,000 are enlisted in each of the following occupations: accountancy, agriculture, bookkeeping, engineering, dentistry, drafting, electricity, jewelry, machinery, salesmanship, tailoring and law.

The bureau received in all 671,686 applications for vocational training of which 330,058 were accepted as eligible for the service. More than 150,000 men are receiving compensation from $80 to $170 monthly in addition to the schooling they are given.

Ocean Mystery Is Seen in Island Covered with Cabbages

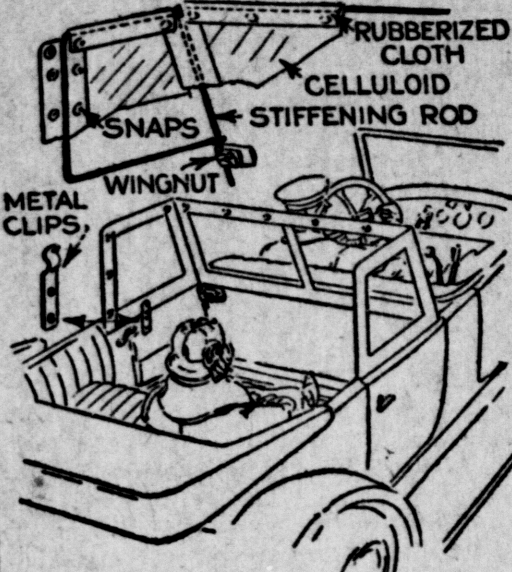

Midway between Africa and Australia and about 1,500 miles from the antarctic circle, Kerguelen island or Desolation Land, as it is called, presents one of the most perplexing mysteries of the Indian ocean. It is covered with strange vegetation unlike that found in any other part of the world. There are also millions of cabbages which bear large heads of leaves eighteen to twenty inches across.

Barrel for Feeding Slops

Feeding slops, which are mixed together in a barrel, is quite a tedious task, as the stuff has to be dipped out of the barrel and fed to the hogs by the bucketful. A much easier method of emptying the barrel is shown in the drawing. The barrel is pivoted between two posts, secured by bolting or screwing around the barrel a heavy iron band, in which two short sections of shafting are mounted to serve as pivots. A metal spout is nailed to the edge of the barrel at the mouth to facilitate pouring the slop. A wooden chute, slanting toward the feed trough, is extended from the barrel, and the slop is poured into this.

Windshield for Rear Auto Seat

Windshields used on rear seats of automobiles are usually constructed of thick plate glass and require a substantial metal frame to hold them in position. This heavy construction can be avoided by making the shield of celluloid and metal rod as shown in the drawing. It is easy to adjust and there will be no danger of being cut by broken glass, should an accident occur.

The framework is made of 1/4-in. brass rod, bent to the shape indicated. Iron rod can also be used provided it is painted to prevent rust. Four pieces of 1/2-in. celluloid are cut to fit inside of the frame. These are sewed or glued to strips of heavy rubberized or leatherized fabric, which is folded over the frame and fastened by means of snaps.

A good adhesive for gluing celluloid to cloth or leather is made by mixing 2 parts of shellac, 3 parts of spirits of camphor and 4 parts of alcohol. The fittings permanently attached to the inside of the body to hold the windshield, are made of 1/4-in. sheet brass. The frame and the shield itself are readily removable.

When he found that some animal had bitten through one of the eggs under a setting turkey hen, a southern man patched the hole with rubber from an auto inner tube. A lively turkey was born.

SHELTER AT A PRICE FOR DRUNKARD OF GENTLE BIRTH

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON—Two "personals" appearing in the London Times tell their own story. The first, which reflects the social and economic changes wrought by the war, follows:

"Peer wants work; under 40; energetic, resourceful; horses, motors, literature; served in Royal Air Force."

The other shows the die hard spirit, the spirit that's out to maintain the old social standards at all hazards. Here it is:

"There is now a vacancy (first class) for Lady Inebriate in Home at —. Apply etc."

The plain inference of this laconic message is that at this particular home there is no welcome for a female inebriate who is not a lady.

NEW ENGLAND HEN MAKES RECORD IN OLD ENGLAND

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON—England has a world-record layer in a Rhode Island Red hen from Wiltshire county, which produced 312 eggs in 308 days. The hen laid an egg every day for 44 weeks and on four days doubled up. The hen was entered in egg-laying trials of the county councils show, and its performance is given by the secretary as a world's record. The hen, he said, laid every day for a fortnight before the trials opened and every day after they closed until her owner took her away. This is the second contest in which the hen has been entered. In the first she laid 262 eggs in as many days.

Farm Column

Higera is a new crop in this country, but it bids fair to be an important one, judging from reports I have picked up from men who have tried it. Among others L. Robinson of Franks is loud in its praise. It not only makes a large yield but he says it will not blast as the result of prolonged rains as do some other grain sorghums. He also says horses will quit almost any other sort of feed to eat the cured stalks of this crop. The heads are large and as good for feed as any other grain sorghum.

A good many cotton fields are still white and even with good weather it will be sometime before the crop is entirely out. After three bad years this is a sight good for the eyes, especially if the weather remains fair until it is all out.

During the past three years I have kept track fairly well of the schools of the county and I note that there have been many changes during that time. I would like to see the time come when communities and their teachers will get along so well together that the changes will be fewer and then only when a teacher gets a promotion. From my own experience I know that changes are rather costly, especially to a community, and it is much better for a teacher to remain and build up a reputation in one place rather than move about. Of course some who call themselves teachers are so sorry that they do not deserve a job anywhere, others give up one place because they think they can find something much better while in other cases a change is made because a few knoekers demand it. I have seen some excellent teachers fired out of their jobs merely to satisfy three or four kickers who are never pleased and are always in a row with some one. School boards sometimes think it is better to pacify a few howlers than to stick to good teachers, hence their schools get a bad name among teachers and good ones shun such places. Of course no teacher is perfect, for they are only human after all, hence it is a mistaken idea to keep on hiring and firing in the hope of finding one who is perfect. When a school patron gets out of sorts with a teacher he at once begins to try to get the teacher's job. He may do so but if the teacher is any good he can easily get another as good or better so the irate citizen has not hurt him after all.

A government bulletin says the Sudan grass crop this year is considerably ahead of that of last year and that seed will be plentiful next year.

Dairying Requirements.
"Why don't you get a few good cows?" is a question recently propounded to a Texas farmer.

"Because I don't want to be tied to a cow's tail 365 days in the year," was his reply.

This reply probably explains why many farmers refuse to become interested in livestock even to the extent of keeping a few good cows and enough hogs to supply the home demands. Livestock must be taken care of 365 days in the year, and the one crop farmer who has accustomed himself to working early and late during a part of the year and taking things easy the rest of the time hesitates to spoil this annual vacation.

Modern Girl Had Rather Have Loss of Weight Than Gain

NORMAN, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—That the modern girl had rather tip the scales at from 15 to 20 pounds below normal, than to have a half a pound of superfluous flesh, is the opinion of Miss Ima James, head of the physical education department of the University of Oklahoma, after examining hundreds of young women in gym classes.

Modern styles, with close-fitting, straight line dresses have prompted the desire for sylph-like figures, the ideal of willowy beauty cherished by the twentieth century coeds is responsible for the tedious task of reducing.

Before a normal weight is attained by the majority of modern girls, Miss James says, it is necessary to convince them that health is more essential than looks or styles.

to appear by many writers whose favorite occupation is boosting the dairy industry. One must know a good cow when he sees it, or have the patience to put the animal through a test to prove her value. He must know how to feed and be able to produce a large portion of the feed-stuffs consumed. Cattle must have pasture and be properly housed in cold and stormy weather. They must have plenty of clean fresh water and be milked properly and regularly. It is an everyday job and can only be handled by men who appreciate good livestock and understand the necessity of making every animal pay a profit over and above her cost of upkeep. Unless a farmer takes up dairying as a business or as a side line with the set purpose of owning only above the average cows and treating them right, he had better leave it alone, or restrict his interest to owning a cow or two for family use.—Farm and Ranch.

BONE COLLECTION TO ENRICH UTAH SCHOOL

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 14.—The world's most unique caravan is what University of Utah Officials term the recent expedition to Salt Lake City from the Jensen, Utah, fossil quarries of 25 horsedrawn wagons loaded with the remains of prehistoric animals which are to be assembled in the museum of the institution.

Millions of years ago these monsters roamed the earth and, with their addition, the university hopes to have one of the most complete museums in the country.

In addition to the complete head of a carnivorous dinosaur, a rarity of inestimable value, the bones ready for shipment are those of a brontosaurus, serotosaurs, stegosaurs and diplodocus.

Plans call for each wagon to be loaded with approximately 2,500 pounds of bones and drawn by four horses. In all the total weight of the bones to be transported is estimated at 60,000 pounds.

For some time University of Utah workers under the direction of Dr. Earl Douglass of the Carnegie Museum of Pittsburgh, Pa., have labored to secure the specimens. With great industry they have chiseled the bones from the sandstone, coated them with a concrete preparation and crated them.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

FINALLY, BRETHREN, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.—Philippians 4:8.

It is just a year today since the memorable election that empowered the legislature to convene itself when it was thought necessary to investigate a governor. Walton had declared that no election would be held and when voters went to the polls early that morning they did not know whether they would be met by a file of national guards or a bunch of gunmen and ordered away. The day before the election county and city officials all over the state had been ordered by telegraph to prevent the election and no one knew what was coming next. The attorney general had ruled the election legal and the courts had refused to interfere. At the last minute Walton decided it would not be wise to go to the extreme length of stopping the election by force and the people of all but three or four counties were left to vote without interference. That was the most critical day in the history of the state and it passed without bloodshed.

Tulsa has for several years been engaged in a battle with its gas company. As soon as it gets one raise in rate the company wants another and Tulsans have fought it most vigorously. Now the city claims that the franchise under which the company is operating limits the rate to 25 cents per 1,000 feet. It is an old trick for these public utility companies to seek a franchise under a specified rate and then as soon as it was granted on that condition apply to the corporation commission to raise the rate and very often it has done so. It looks like accepting a franchise under a specified rate constitutes a contract between them but this contention has been disregarded. Now if Tulsa can make it stick there will be rattling of the dry bones in quite a number of towns of the state.

A convict who recently died in the California penitentiary had not spoken a word in 15 years. He was under death sentence and suddenly became silent. He was adjudged insane after all efforts to make him talk had failed and his execution was postponed until he regained his balance. Naturally he never found his speech. Holding his tongue saved his life and his example might be followed by many others to their own advantage.

The Tulsa Petroleum Exposition is now in full blast and our big neighbor is celebrating the event in great fashion. Tulsa is one of the oil centers of the United States and this annual event will draw still more attention to the oil industry of Oklahoma. Just now Oklahoma wants all the legitimate oil producers it can induce to come here and this exposition should be the means of interesting some of them in the possibilities of this section.

It is not always that a father has reason to feel proud of his son but it is not often that one will make known his displeasure with as much force as is being done by the father of a wet candidate for governor of Minnesota. The father is a minister and he cannot bear to have his son besmirch the family name by running on such a platform, so the father says, and he is working hard against the young man, advising voters to defeat him.

The action of the citizens of Three Sands in cleaning up the town following a killing a few nights ago is the usual outcome in such cases. The tough element always goes too far and then the law abiding and peace loving element, which is in the majority in nearly all communities, rouses itself and takes control for the time being. Lawlessness always defeats itself in the end.

The extermination of American game birds has undoubtedly had the effect of multiplying the insect pests which do hundreds of millions of damage to the crops every year, but the Americans are a people who never miss the water until the well runs dry, hence the slaughter will go on until there are no more birds.

The good old days we hear about were perhaps all right, but there were also many things about those times that were not so good. We prefer the present and have no desire to turn back the hands of the clock even as much as half a century.

Senator Brookhart of Iowa, one of the so-called "progressive" Republicans, demands that Charles G. Dawes withdraw as the party's candidate for vice-president. No need of a row about it, the Democrats will withdraw him a month hence.

THE THREE MUSKETEERS

RULING ON STOCK INSPECTION LAW

October 3, 1924.

Mr. W. R. Brandon, Ada, Oklahoma.

Dear Sir: In compliance with your request with reference to the law controlling the inspection of cattle and other stock suitable for food, you are advised that the law may be found in Sections 3692, 3693 and 3694 of Revised Laws of 1921. Section 3693 provides that the county inspector shall inspect all animals about to be slaughtered. That section further provides, that the county inspector has the power to appoint one or more deputies throughout the county for the convenience of those who slaughter and sell slaughtered animals for food. The law governing meat dealers in cities and towns, like regular butcher shops demands an inspection by the county inspector, or one of his duly appointed deputies. The provision in Section 3693 providing that two neighbors may inspect cattle when an inspector cannot be conveniently had, has no application whatever to a party engaged in retailing meat in towns and cities, but applies only to the owners of stock in rural districts who want to kill and peddle out their meat to their neighbors. Therefore, you are advised that where a retailer of meat at butcher shops in the town of Ada buy stock from farmers there is but one legal inspection and that inspection must be by the county inspector or one of his deputies and for such inspection you are advised that you or your deputies are authorized to collect 25 cents per head on cattle and other fees regulated by law for other stock. And in case you and your deputies have to travel more than two miles to inspect said stock, that you are entitled to 10 cents a mile one way, less the two miles for such inspection.

You are further advised that the fees of officers are regulated strictly by statute and the supreme court has in several opinions held that unless the law specifies that the officer could not collect any fee, and that in the absence of the specific statute authorizing the collection of fees that no fee can be collected, therefore, you are advised that the inspection by residents in the absence of an inspector, at the instance of the town meat dealers is no inspection at all, and therefore, no fee can be collected by anyone for such pretended inspection, as under the law the only legal inspection is by the county inspector or one of his deputies, as far as meat dealers in towns and cities are concerned.

You are further advised that farmers may have their cattle inspected by two of their neighbors, where they intend to peddle it out themselves, but in such case there is no provision for collecting a fee, therefore, no fee could be collected by the neighbors. This provision of the statute is for the convenience of the raisers and producers of cattle and has no applications whatever to the retailers in the towns and cities.

You are further advised that any meat dealer or dealers who offer for sale any cattle or other stock, notwithstanding they purchased from the farmer violates the criminal law of Oklahoma, without having same inspected by the county inspector or one of his deputies, and is subject to fine and imprisonment in the county jail for thirty days.

I have given this matter very careful study and consideration and the law in my judgment is very plain and I am hopeful that you can bring the meat dealers to full comprehension and understanding of this law and I feel that when they do understand same that they will not fail to comply with same. And should you have any meat dealers in the county that differ with you I shall be glad to have a friendly discussion with them in order that the matter may be adjusted peaceably. Any further service I may render to you I will be glad to extend it.

Yours very truly,
J. W. BOLEN.

SOUTH NAVAL SCHOOLS TO OPEN IN OCTOBER

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The first courses in the newly established schools for reserve naval officers will be operative in October at George Washington University, Washington, D. C., and St. John's College, Annapolis, Md., with half a dozen institutions in line for similar cooperative effort. Among those preferring assistance is the University of Seattle.

Planned along the general line of the R. O. T. C. of the army, the navy schools are designed to furnish select and trained material for the commissioned reserve. It is expected that the privilege of participating in the practice cruise each summer by the academy classes to European ports will be a strong incentive to civilian students.

The courses will cover the regular four year tuition of the college student, at least three hours a week on naval subjects being required in this classification will be credited toward the university degree.

Students electing the naval course will be enrolled as midshipmen, naval reserve and upon completion will be commissioned as reserve ensigns. While on active duty the midshipmen will receive the pay to their grade, amounting to $89.00 per month. The first uniform outfit will be furnished gratis. Upon graduation, the officer will receive two months' full pay annually, regardless of whether called to duty or not.

"CODE OF THE SEA" GRIPPING SEA STORY OF REGENERATION

"Code of the Sea," a Paramount picture, featuring Rod LaRoque and Jacqueline Logan, is said to be the last word in sea stories. Written by Byron Morgan and produced by Victor Fleming, it is claimed that this picture will create nothing short of a sensation with its marvelous scenes and photographic effects. The story is one of regeneration. It concerns a young lad, first mate on a lightship, a coward, regenerated through circumstance and his love for a girl, Jenny Hayden, played by Miss Logan, goes for a cruise on the yacht Neroid. It is caught on a reef in a storm and McDow (LaRoque) picks up its "S. O. S." The steamer, northern captain by Jenny's father, is trying to make shore and orders McDow to remain at his station so he can safely clear the reef with his three hundred passengers. McDow is frantic. Rules say remain at his station—but Jenny is in danger. What does he do? That's just it—what DOES he do? The picture shows it all graphically and entertainingly. Better see it!

George Fawcett, Maurice Flynn, Luke Cosgrave, Lillian Leighton and other big names appear in the supporting cast.

WHY THE KNOCKER KNOCKS. (Norman Transcript)

Most cities and towns have knockers. There are some in Norman. Why do they knock, when it is so clearly for their interest to shout for the good old home town?

A bit of jealousy, perhaps in some cases. Some folks dislike to see others go ahead and attain prominence in community organizations. They regard themselves as equally capable of leadership, hence feel tempted to carp at others who are given responsibility. Yet they would not probably take off their own coats and put in the hard licks the other fellow is giving.

A desire to air their own wit, sometimes. They are like the idler man sitting in the cool shade, to whom the sweating worker in the confid may often seem grotesque.

Swollen ideas sometimes. Some folks visit great cities and come home sore because their home town has no skyscrapers or other metropolitan developments. Cities and towns, however, like people, are most lovable when they develop along the lines of their own personality, rather than aping others. Some loyal friends of their home city cherish great dreams for its future. All fine and inspiring. But don't get your head so far in the clouds that you lose step with the duty toilers who are pushing your community up the hill of progress one step at a time.

Much so called knocking is mere thoughtlessness, the careless words of people who have some knowledge and are not averse to exhibiting the same. People who keep up a running fire of detraction against those who are attempting to do community work, are about as welcome as a rain storm on Picnic day. They tend to make people give up their hopes and settle into the dull routine of yesterday.

Communities are carried ahead by faith and enthusiasm. One plain man who loves his home town so much that he always talks of its achievements rather than its defects, but who quietly takes hold to remove faults, is worth a dozen superior intellects who are always analyzing things without taking action.

Awards of fifty $500 scholarships have been made by the American Child Health Association of New York City to teachers of a competing group of 1,639, who submitted examples of classroom work in health education directed by them during the school year. The contest was made possible by an appropriation of $25,000 from a life insurance company.

Tries Kellogg's Bran—restores health after 12 years of intense suffering

Mr. Firth writes that he suffered for 12 years from constipation and his friend for 10 years—a total of 22 years' suffering permanently relieved by Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

Gentlemen:

For 12 years I had been troubled with indigestion, caused mostly by constipation. Until about a year ago, I would suffer from 4 to 20 weeks at a time.

I happened to see your Krumbled Bran in a store, purchased a package and got almost immediate relief. I am still eating the Krumbled Bran every day.

The most wonderful results obtained with your Krumbled Bran I will now relate. A gentleman who has been taking medicine for about 10 years for constipation could not find anything to give him relief. Three weeks ago I advised him to try Krumbled Bran, as I had told him what wonderful results I had gotten from it. The gentleman in question purchased a box, and he told me that for the first time in ten years he is regular without taking medicine.

Yours for success,
William Firth, Jr., 56 Volan St., Merchantville, N. J.

Eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to relieve the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. Eat two table-spoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. The flavor is delicious. Try it in the recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

Oklahoma Railroad Man Declares

KARNAK

Is Most Wonderful Medicine on Earth

"Karnak has restored me to the best of health after all other treatments failed me. It is the only real medicine there is today, and I am here to back every word I say."

This is the hearty endorsement given Andre's famous new medicine by Mr. L. G. McEwen, well known retired railroad conductor, whose address is Route 11, Box 229, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

"For years I suffered from stomach and kidney disorders," continued Mr. McEwen, "and two years ago I developed rheumatism which settled in my shoulders, arms and neck and was so painful I could hardly turn my head. Sour stomach, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness, and terrible pains through my stomach and back just almost took the life out of me, and although I was continually paying out money my condition was becoming worse all the time.

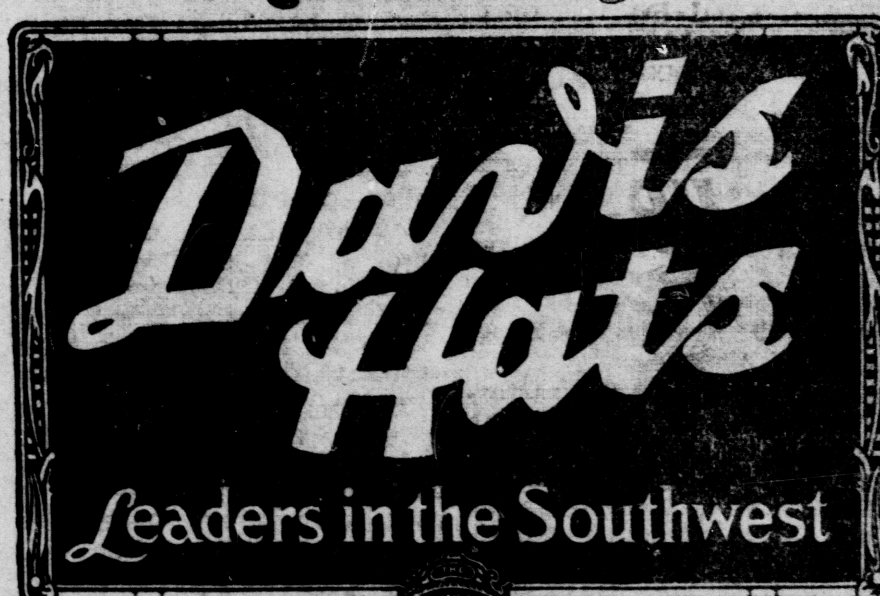

"But I am thankful to say the rheumatism is gone now, my kidneys and stomach are in the best of condition, and I am a well and happy man. I have gained a number of pounds, too, and everybody who knows me can see for themselves what Karnak has done for me. Karnak is the most wonderful medicine on earth, and words can't express my gratitude towards it."

Karnak is sold in Ada exclusively at Gwin & Mays and in Stonewall at Chas. Burnett's—Adv.
